

What is the purpose of MyQ?

- To provide future students with consistent and relevant information about qualifications to help them decide what and where to study.
- To give graduates (and soon employers) an objective channel to share valuable feedback to inform prospective students about how well their qualifications prepared them for work and career opportunities.
- To give TEOs insightful information to help them make improvements with their qualifications and programmes.
- To provide valuable data to help design and match qualifications and programmes to the employment market.
- To enable prospective students to make better informed study choices. The survey has been designed from the onset with prospective students in mind – research and analysis was undertaken with both graduates and students to inform the design and the type of questions to ask.
